

AmeriCorps. Volunteer Engagement. Getting Things Done In Ohio.

For over twenty years, ServeOhio – Ohio Commission on Service and Volunteerism has worked with local communities across the state to build a strong infrastructure of AmeriCorps programming and volunteer engagement. ServeOhio acts as a program leader, convener and champion. As a program leader, ServeOhio develops AmeriCorps programs and National Days of Service Projects in partnership with community-level organizations – ensuring that valuable resources are expended on locally-identified, critical needs. In our role as a convener, ServeOhio brings together local and statewide leadership to construct effective strategies for national service expansion and volunteer mobilization. As a champion, ServeOhio celebrates service and volunteerism by recognizing outstanding volunteer achievement; educating elected officials and local leaders on the impact of service; and increasing professional development opportunities for those in the field to elevate the efficacy of local service and volunteer initiatives. ServeOhio is getting things done to create a stronger Ohio.

AmeriCorps

Working with local partners, ServeOhio builds AmeriCorps programs that meet critical local and state challenges. Current AmeriCorps funding priorities include education, economic opportunity, healthy futures, and environmental stewardship. AmeriCorps programs provide opportunities for Ohioans to make an intensive commitment to service in their community. Through this unique state-local partnership, ServeOhio is able to address local needs while also providing a valuable service experience for the AmeriCorps member – building skills and increasing employment opportunities for thousands of Ohioans.

Volunteer Engagement

ServeOhio invests in local volunteer mobilization through AmeriCorps and National Days of Service project funding. Last year, Ohio AmeriCorps members mobilized 6,520 community volunteers to support the organizations they serve. Through a longstanding public-private partnership with Honda Manufacturing of America and AEP Ohio, ServeOhio provides funding for local service projects on MLK Day, Global Youth Service Day, and Make A Difference Day. In the most recent annual funding cycle, over $22,000 was granted to support 23 service projects that engaged 2,750 Ohio volunteers. In addition to funding volunteer mobilization, ServeOhio champions outstanding volunteers via our ServeOhio Awards which honors high-impact service in local Ohio communities. ServeOhio also convenes Ohio volunteer administration professionals in high-quality professional development at our annual Ohio Conference on Service and Volunteerism and through targeted dialogue on improving volunteer infrastructure.
